DUSTBIN

Ergonomics at the working environment can increase the effectivity, reduce absenteeism, and prevent long-lasting pains in the back, neck, and shoulders. The access to the trash is normally overlooked at the economical working environment.

The dustbin of the APTO collection is improving the above mentioned problem, since the dustbin can be located close to the employee with one single clamp. However, if the sorting of the trash is through big containers centrally placed at the workplace, then easily re-mount the dustbin, empty it, and re-mount it on the table with the clamp. The design of the dustbin makes it possible to use a plastic-bag due to the overlapped detailed within the dustbin.

The volume of the dustbin is relatively low, in which provides a discreet look within the existing decoration of every working environments. The design of the dustbin is characterized by organic, modern shapes, with makes this dustbin an interesting alternative towards the classic, traditional trash cans. What is not to like?
