ROUND TABLE - Ø 280 MM

Open office plans are intended to encourage spontaneous collaboration, innovation, and creativity, a growing body of research indicates that, in practice, they may have the opposite effect. In 2018, the Danish National Research Academy for Working Environments analysed that the majority of all employees were less productive and creative.

A way in which employees can get a personal space, while firms can keep the open-plan work environments, is with delimiting objects. The above-mentioned problem can easily be solved with this round table, which is mounted on the desk with one single multi clamp.

This specific table has a diameter on 280 mm, which maintains the discreteness. Furthermore, the round table has a smaller edge, which provides security for the stored objects placed on the table. Additionally, the round table is lifted 54 mm from the top of the desk, which gives a graphically expression. The size of the table can easily be combined with some of the other tables in the collection for a more sophisticated look.
