ROUND TABLE - Ø480 MM

Open office plans are intended to encourage spontaneous collaboration, innovation, and creativity, a growing body of research indicates that, in practice, they may have the opposite effect. In 2018, the Danish National Research Academy for Working Environments analysed that the majority of all employees were less productive and creative.

A way in which employees can get a personal space, while firms can keep the open-plan work environments, is with delimiting objects. The above-mentioned problem can easily be solved with this round table, which is mounted on the desk with one single multi clamp.

This specific table has a diameter on 480 mm, which maintains the discreteness. Additionally, the table is lifted 94 mm above the top of the desk, which not only gives a graphically expression, but is also making it lot easier to clean the desk and table. The table is produced of bamboo, which is the most environmentally-friendly resource to sustainability, durability, and versatility.
