

TecLines TKW006

cable tray extendable / foldable

Description

The foldable cable duct from TecLines makes it easy to get a grip on high cable volumes in the workplace. The cable tray made of powder-coated steel is attached directly under the desk via simple screw mounting. Since the width can be variably adjusted between 1100 and 1700 mm, the cable routing can be adapted to desks of different sizes. For uncomplicated cable management, the container can be unhooked on one side so that the cables hidden inside can be accessed at any time if required. The cable holder is ideal for stand-sit tables, among others, and is supplied with installation material included.
